

Feeding your dog or cat

We recommend Hill's Vet Essentials pet foods as their formulations are constantly updated to ensure the optimum health of your pet.

Hill's Vet Essentials are complete and life stage dependent so that the nutrition is tailored to the age of your pet and its exact requirements.

Hill's diets are fixed formulation which means that ingredients are constant between batches and bags. With some other foods, each batch may have different ingredients which could be a cause of digestive upsets.

There are specific prescription diets available for all conceivable medical problems. If your pet is already accustomed to Hill's food, the change to one of these prescription diets is simplified.
